2006 Run In Preseason WNIT

The Cougar team ended their run in this year's Preseason WNIT after a disappointing 58-84 loss to No. 16 Baylor on Thurs. Nov. 16. BYU had advanced to the Final Four after a 73-50 home victory over Idaho State on Nov. 10 and then a come from behind 55-52 upset victory over No. 4 Stanford. Dani Kubik Wright was named to the All-Tournament Team.

Cougars Team Summary

After compiling the best season record in school history (26-6), making their seventh postseason NCAA Championships appearance and clinching the 2006 MWC Regular Season Champion crown, the BYU team looks to take that success and winning attitude into the 2006-07 year.

BYU returns a nucleus of four starters and five letterwinners that will make this year's squad tough to beat during its non-conference and league schedules.

Once again the Cougars should finish at the top of the MWC standings, leading the way to an eighth appearance in the NCAA Championships and advancing further in that national tournament.

PREVIOUS GAME RECAP

BYU @. CSU- BY-67; CSU-50

The BYU women's basketball team (19-6, 10-2) traveled to Fort Collins to beat the Colorado State Rams Saturday, 67-50, capping off a two-win road trip.

In the first five minutes of the game, the Cougars hit eight of their first ten shots, including three for five from down town, to propel BYU to a 21-11 lead. Jennie Keele had five of those points while five of her teammates contributed the other 16 points.

Defense became the key for the Rams in the first half as they held the Cougars scoreless for over four minutes and tied the game at 23 with just over ten minutes left in the half. BYU went on a five-point run before the Rams cut the lead to two at 26-28 with a three-pointer from Emily Neal. CSU then tied the game at 28 with two free throws from Marilyn Mouton. BYU's Melinda Johnsen gave the Cougars the lead again with a lay-up with just over five minutes to go in the half, but CSU answered with a lay-up to tie the game again. BYU's Lauren Riley then hit a hook shot on the other end of the floor to give the visiting team a lead they would not give up.

The Cougars took a six point lead into the locker room at the half with a score of 41-35. At the break the Cougars were dominating the boards with 20 compared to the Rams' ten.

CSU hit the first shot of the second half, but Mallery Gillespie scored the first Cougar points in the half with a long triple to give her team a seven-point lead with 17:30 left in the game. Moulton hit another shot before Dani Wright hit another shot from three-point land off an assist from Johnsen.

Neal cut the BYU lead to four with 13:25 to go in the game, but Keele hit another three-pointer a minute later for her 14th point of the game, tying her season high and giving the Cougars another five-point lead with 11 minutes to go. That would be as close as the Rams would get the rest of the day.

Wright scored her 14th point with ten minutes to go in the game to give the Cougars an 11-point lead. The lead went to 15 after two more Cougar buckets. In the end, it was the Cougars who were able to hold on and outlast the under-manned Rams and strengthen BYU's place at the top of the Mountain West Conference.

2006 MWC Coach of the Year Jeff Judkins begins his sixth year as head coach of the women's basketball program. Prior to heading up the women's program, he served one year (1999-2000) as Director of Basketball Operations for the BYU men's team. In 2000 he became an assistant coach on the women's team.

Last season under Judkins, the Cougars compiled their best finish in school history with a 26-6 record, clinched their first MWC regular season title since 1992 and received a no. 7 seed in the NCAA tournament, the highest seed for any BYU program.

For the first time since the 2002-03 season, the team and its 13-1 record to start the year broke into the women's basketball collegiate polls, ranked No. 23 by the AP Poll and the USA Today/Espn/WBCA Coaches Poll. They would rank as high as 18 and 16 in the two respective polls, finishing the year at No. 20. Last season Judkins picked up his 100th win, a 69-67 victory over CSU on Mar. 2, the same time the team clinched the league's regular season title.

Under Judkins tutelage, the women's basketball program has had consistent success with four postseason appearances including three NCAA Championships, guiding the team to its first ever Sweet Sixteen finish in 2002. In 2005, the 19-11 team played in the first round of the WNIT.

Judkins has also coached two All-Americans in Erin Thorn and Ambrosia Anderson. Both have gone on to play in the WNBA for the New York Liberty. Thorn has been with the team for the past four years while Anderson just completed her first year playing professionally.

The longtime University of Utah coach and player came to Provo with a proven record of success dating back to his high school days at Highland HS in Salt Lake City. An all-state selection in basketball, football and baseball, Judkins went on to play for the University of Utah from 1974-78.

While playing at Utah, Judkins helped lead the Utes to one conference championship and two berths in the NCAA tournament. He was a second-team academic All-American and three-time District VII academic selection. He also earned three first team All-WAC honors and was a member of the 1977 United States World Games team that captured the gold medal.

Judkins also played five years in the National Basketball Association for the Boston Celtics, Portland Trailblazers, Detroit Pistons and Utah Jazz. He was a second-round pick of the Celtics in 1978, the same year the Celtics selected Larry Bird with the sixth pick overall.

After his NBA career, he returned to Utah in 1989 and was an instrumental part of that program's success during his 10 years, recruiting such players as Keith Van Horn, Andre Miller, Mike Doleac, Hanno Mottola, Alex Jensen, Trent Whiting, Gamer Meads, Jeff Johnsen and Britton Johnsen.

Judkins, graduated from the University of Utah in 1978 with a degree in health and physical education. He and his wife Mary Kaye are the parents of five children: Jessica (26), (married to Paul), Jordan (24), Jenna (22), Jaime, who plays on the basketball team, (19), and Jaxson (16). Jenna plays on the volleyball team at BYU.

Hobbies: Waterskiing, horseback riding, hunting, golf, softball, and watching ESPN.
