Cougar Honors To Date

Ambrosia Anderson was named the MWC Player of the Week on Nov. 28, marking her first career honor.

Anderson led the Cougars to a 71-67 road victory over Pac-10 foe UCLA and a 72-39 routing of UC Santa Barbara. She tallied a career-high 26 points and nine rebounds against the Bruins. In the home opener against UCSB, Anderson tallied 21 points and pulled down 12 boards, marking her first double-double of the season, and seventh overall.

Last Game

vs. NORTHERN ARIZONA UNIVERSITY

Led by senior Ambrosia Anderson, BYU dominated Northern Arizona in a 34-point victory, 82-48.

The first half was all BYU, as the Cougars jumped out to a 14-9 lead, gradually extending that advantage throughout the first half. The Cougars went into the half with a 20-point lead, 38-18.

If there was something more impressive than the Cougars lead, it would have to be standout senior Anderson.

For Anderson, who came into the game averaging 21.5 points and 9.7 rebounds per game, it was business as usual. Playing just 13 minutes in first half, Anderson amassed 17 points, and she did it from the everywhere--inside and outside, driving and jump-shooting.

Two moves in particular showcased her finesse and feeling for the game. After scrambling to collect a loose ball, Anderson eyed an opening down the left lane. She drove, ducked under a Lumberjack defender for the bucket and one.

A few plays later on an inbound, Vanessa Hutson sent a lob to the opposite block for Anderson, who rose into the air and gently tapped the ball in for two points.

Shortly after the second half began, Judkins put the reigns on Ambrosia to give the other players some looks.

Anderson's 26 points ties her season and career highs. She has scored in double figures in every game this season.

The entire Cougar team played well and played together. Mallary Gillespie scored 12 points, including a long two and two three-pointers to begin the second half. She also contributed five assists and two steals. Lauren Riley added 12 points for the Cougars.
