Gymnastics to Take on Boise State

PROVO, Utah (February 12, 2003) – The No. 31 BYU Gymnastics team heads off to Idaho this weekend to battle the Boise State Broncos for the second time this season. The competition will be held Friday, February 14 at 7 p.m. at the Boise State Pavilion.

After two weeks of season-low scores at Kentucky and the Cat Classic, the Cougars are ready to jump back into competition and to raise their scores.

"The girls are looking really good," BYU head coach Brad Cattermole said. "They have refocused their efforts, and there has been a increase in workout performance. They are just ready to go out and compete again."

BYU competed against the Broncos in their first home meet of the season on January 25 in the Smith Fieldhouse. BYU took first with a 195.6 to the Broncos' 193.725.

Last weekend the Cougars participated in the Cat Classic at the University of Missouri. BYU came in last with a 192.850. Boise State took third last weekend in California against California, Cal State Fullerton and UC Davis with a 193.65.

BYU will have to pull together and remain focused to score above the Broncos, but Cattermole is confident that the girls will compete well.

"If the level of performance in our practices are any indicator," he said, "we've got what it takes to start scoring high again."

Cougars Tumble with Cat Classic Loss

Columbia, MO (February 7, 2003) --After winning the Cat Classic two years in a row, the Cougars gave up their title Friday night to host University of Missouri, and came in fourth behind the University of New Hampshire and the University of Arizona.

Falls on the bars cost the cougars in the running, scoring 47.775, which is an improvement from last week's season low of 47.600. The Cougars also fell short on the beam scoring a 47.625, another season low.

Arizona's Monica Bisordi won the all-around title with a 39.325, with second and third place finishers, Lindsay Davis (39.225) and Alisha Robinson (39.175) both from Missouri.

Sophomore Kirsten Pauga the only Cougar to come in the top three on an event. Pauga's floor routine scored her a 9.825, tying for third with New Hampshire's Vanessa James and coming in behind Missouri's Lauren Schwartzman (9.850) and New Hampshire's Michelle Harley (9.850).

BYU's other all-around competitor, senior Lindsay Butterfield scored her highest scores of the season on beam with a 9.725 and on the floor exercise 9.800.

Some Cougars will get a chance to compete again tomorrow night when individuals from each event advance to the individual finals.
