Last Game Recap vs. Portland

In a back-and-forth battle that saw each team go on runs and scoring droughts, BYU held on to beat the University of Portland 64-55 Friday in the Marriott Center.

The runs came early and often for both teams, with BYU going on three 7-0 runs and Portland going on one 9-0 run and a 7-0 run of their own. The Cougars used their first run to put them in the lead 15-9, behind 4 points from Nancy Seljaas. But Portland answered back quickly, scoring seven unanswered of their own and taking the lead 18-17, one of eight lead changes in the game.

The second half picked up where the first left off, as BYU came out hot, starting the half on another 7-0 run and increasing their lead to 40-31. However, staying true to form, the Pilots answered back again, scoring nine points in 30 seconds and tying the game at 45-45. BYU Coach Jeff Judkins called a timeout to halt Portland's momentum, and his team responded by going on their third 7-0 run of the game and taking the lead 52-45. The run gave BYU enough of a cushion that they didn't trail again in the game on their way to the win.

The Cougars were led by senior forward Ambrosia Anderson, who led all scorers with 17 points. Anderson also pulled down 10 rebounds on her way to her fourth double-double of the season and tenth of her career.

Player Injury Report

Sophomore forward Mary Martha Abell, from Monroe, Louisiana suffered a torn ACL injury to her knee in the exhibition game against Westminster College on Nov. 1. She will use this season as an injury red-shirt year.

NCAA Tournament.

Judkins, a Salt Lake City native, graduated from Utah in 1978 with a degree in health and physical education. He is a member of the Utah Sports Hall of Fame and the Crimson Club Hall of Fame.
